Discovering Texts from Classical Arab Literature

Discovering Texts from Classical Arab Literature is a textbook (with exercises featured on a CD-Rom) for students who are learning Arabic as a foreign language, and who wish to master literary texts of the classical period, and improve their language skills at the same time.

Yet, this textbook can also be used by teachers in language as well as in literature classes. The available exercises may serve as texts for oral and written comprehension and expression classes, but they may also offer a useful and efficient preparation for further studies in literary history or literary analysis.

Discovering Texts from Classical Arab Literature fills a gap in the available teaching material for Arabic as a foreign language, in so far as it specifically emphasizes all the mechanisms involved in reading aloud or in silent reading.
